From the Ohio Statesman.

WHY THIS SUDDEN CHANGE Every calamity that occurred in the country from 1831 to within a few months, the federalists attributed directly to the action of the Administranon. The moment a merchant failed, Shylock ran away, or a shin-plaster concern exploded, they were ready to neap their torrents of abu e upon the administration for causing the calami-

At first, every mishap was traced to the veto of the United States Bank. If he nation's pickles became mouldy from want of sufficient vinegar, the was whig husband could see in the cirumstance the direful effects of the bank veto; if the child's bread and butter fell upon the floor and became besmeared with dirt. Jackson's veto was cursed in rampant terms for bringing so many calamities upon the family. Indeed, it was the cause of all evil, bote public and domestic, in the estimation of the federal demagogues.

The counry has hardly ever-experienced a greaer preasure in the money market, than exists at the present time. The banks, not with standing they appear to be in as good a condition as at any former period, have all closed their doors against he merchants. The discounts are abtheir former extravagant loans. Yet we do not now hear the pressure-the want of money-attributed to the measures of the administration. Why this sudden change? Why this spiking of their artillery ? Have the federal cemagogues found that the people cannot be duped by their upprincipled elanders? Have they learned that the people examine political questions for themselves, and that it is impossible to deceive them?

You, the honest upright, independent, and industrious formers of Tuscarawas county, it is for your interest and welfare that we cal upon you to go to the polls and vote the entire Democratic ticket. It depends on your votes, whether Bank influence shall any longer control our county affairs; whether the price of grain shall be reduced and become as uncertain as the winds, by Bank speculators. It depends on you whether Bank agents shall make their own prices, or allow you to have a hand in selling the products of their labor. Should such things be to all the rules of buying and selling, and consequently should bow down, say Democrate. nothing, and let them make their own prices. But Farmers of Tuscarawas. will you do it? It behaves you all, as you love your country, your homes and your families, to check the career of the Bank swindler, the Monopolicer and the Aristocrat. They are the ones who would first reduce the price of your labor, next oppress you, and lastly divide you into a distinct class from themselves, preparatory to being dubbed their slaves. There are such men in this country, and even in this county. They are among the whig ranke. You will find them at the polls, trying to bribe and corrupt you; placing false tickets in your hands. But heed them not, discard them as you would

OF A mistake occurred in printing some few of our tickets. The name of Mr. Roberts was inserted in the place of Mr Lewis Conwell, as a candidate for Assessor. Mr Roberts having resinged the Central Committee nominated Mr. Conwell, to fill the vacancy. That there might be no misunderstanding, we have reprinted the name at the bottom of those tickets in which the error occurred.

Mr Conwell is a Farmer, a true Democrat and a man every way calculated to fulfill the office he is a candidate for.

In another column will be found the proceedings of a meeting held at westchester, for the purpose of nominating an Independent candidate for Representative. The majority of Townships aphave a man that will go for the erection Statesman. of a new County. The regularly nom-inated candidate, Mr. Brainerd, is a man that will do every thing in his power, for the best interests of the county, and the Democratic party. If the majority wish a new county, he is the man that will urge their claims to the utmost extent; he will leave nothing undone on his part.

All that is wanting, is unity of feeling and harmony. Let one tremenduous effort be made, all pull together, and the victory s ours on Tuesday next.

The Grain Market .- Although the pre-ent prices of grain, are somewhat detrimental to the farmers interests: still we advise them not to be alarmed Our opinion is that wheat will command a fairer price in a week or two after the election, than it does at present. We may be mistaken; but as far as we can see into a millstone, it is evident that the Banks are at their old games; expanding and contracting, to suit their own wily purposes; entirely regardless of the farmer and the mechanic, whether they obtain a subsistance or not, by your own labor. It is their principle Should the tiller of the soil, much lonthat the Farmer is ignorant, that he is ger succumb to such rascality?
